Why You Must Invest in Guitar Accessories

By Roberto Sedycias

For guitarists, guitar is not only an instrument of playing music, it is the very purpose of their living. Ask a guitarist if he ever leaves his guitar behind, and mostly likely he will reply, `NO`.

It is not unusual to a guitarist constantly research on how to improve the performance of his guitar. This is probably why many professional guitarists and other guitar aficionados all over the world lay a great deal of emphasis on having guitar accessories. Although, a guitar hardly helps you improve your playing technique or your ability to play killer riffs and tasty licks, some guitar accessories, however, can be very useful in making guitar play easier and more comfortable.

While you play your guitar you might want to focus only on how to play the guitar; however, it is easier said than done. There are many factors that could potentially interfere with your performance. Any guitar professional would tell you how a poor sitting posture, while you hold the guitar or even improper positioning of your guitar while you play it, can affect your performance to an unbelievable extent. Similarly, the wrong choice of guitar pics, some of the most sought-after guitar accessories in the guitar industry around the globe, can also affect your performance to large extent.

Whether you are a budding guitarist or professional guitarist who has been playing for a long time, you can't deny the importance of guitar accessories and their impact on your performance. Here are some guitar accessories that are always worth investing in, if you seriously want to up the performance of you playability.

Guitar Pic Holders:

Guitar pics are indispensable guitar accessories; however, it is not always possible to ensure that they are placed at a convenient position to avoid misplacing them. They are tiny in size and hence, prone to being misplaced more often. Also, you might load them to your friends and forget about them forever. Since there is no particular place to hold them, you might as well drop them forgetfully.

Guitar manufactures know this problem since a long time and hence, they are coming up with guitar pics holders to combat this problem of guitar players. Guitar pics holders are a convenient place to hold guitar pics. For instance, some guitars pic holders now are available in the form of key chains or a clip attached right to the guitar for easy access so that you can not forget it anywhere. Some innovative guitar accessories such as built-in guitar wallet can also be found now-a-days. This is particularly useful for those that are rather forgetful or have a tendency to misplace guitar pics.

Instant release Guitar straps:

This is a must-have for guitarists who perform in front of live audience. Many times, while changing the sitting or standing position, they face difficulty in adjusting the ties of conventional guitar straps. To help the guitarists overcome this problem, manufactures have come up with instant release guitars straps that enable you to attach or remove your guitar easily with just a single click. Moreover, they fit just like the seat belt clip in your car.

Cup Holders:

How many times have you looked for a sip of water in between a long concert performance? Often times, you struggle to find enough time to bend and reach for the bottle of water that is placed behind your chair. Cup holders come quite handy in situation like this. Just like drink holders in your vehicle, guitarists can sip water or some other beverages placed on the cup holders. Cup holders can be attached to the guitar stand, microphone stand or even music stand and can be easily accessible.

Bespoke Guitar Picks:

Many popular guitarists want to gift their fans something as a souvenir and bespoke guitar picks with their exclusive designs can be a great memento you can gift your fan base. Along with setting a new trend, it is a great way to merchandise your band.

Guitar accessories may not help you improve your techniques; however, they are extremely essential as they help you feel easy, relaxed and comfortable to focus totally on how to play your guitar. In a nutshell, it pays to invest in guitar accessories.

It's Time To Learn Guitar!

By Gabriel Adams

Are you ready to play the unofficial "most cool instrument in the world"? Well, yeh, that's the guitar. Yes, playing guitar is cool. Some people miss out on it, though - but they'll look back later with remorse and say: "i studied classical piano when i could've been playing guitar..."

But since you've decided to learn guitar, I'd like to give you a few pointers to get you started.

First of all, if you're serious, get a decent instrument. Don't pick up a $50 guitar from Walmart. At least invest in a name brand beginner's guitar. I bought an Oscar Schmidt acoustic guitar from a friend for $90. A price like that sure didn't break the bank, but it's a quite decent guitar, especially for someone like me - my expertise is on the keyboard, not the guitar.

Secondly, get some help learning guitar. If you're pretty musical, you might get by with a DVD or instruction book teaching you how to play. Or, you may have a friend who can help you out a little. Most of us, though, will learn guitar quicker with a teacher. Find a teacher that is a good guitarist, but is also a good teacher. Also, be sure that they play the type of guitar music you want to learn. For example, if you want to play rock music, don't get a classical guitarist for a teacher!

Thirdly, learn guitar by playing songs that you love. It's much more fun to practice when you're playing your favorite songs. The great thing about contemporary guitar music is that no matter how much of a beginner you are, you can find great songs to learn. If you're really new, you might even want to try one of the old "three chord" rock songs, by the likes of Elvis.

Of course, one of the most important things you should do is practice!
